(MURDERS)

LOS ANGELES--A SIX-MAN TEAM OF POLICE DETECTIVES TODAY PROBED TWO MACABRE MURDER CASES WHICH BORE STARTLING SIMILARITIES -- SENSELESS, SAVAGE STABBINGS WITH ALMOST RITUALISTIC OVERTONES. POLICE MAINTAINED THERE WAS NO DIRECT PHYSICAL EVIDENCE TO CONNECT THE STABBING DEATHS OF A MIDDLE-AGED COUPLE SUNDAY AND THE MASS MURDER SATURDAY OF ACTRESS SHARON TATE AND HER FOUR GUESTS AT A SECLUDED ESTATE.

BUT AN OFFICER SAID, "IT IS UNUSUAL TO HAVE THE SAME TEAM ON TWO CASES UNLESS THERE'S AN INDICATION THE CASES ARE LINKED."

THE SOLE SUSPECT IN THE TATE MURDERS, WILLIAM GARRETSON, 19, A CARETAKER AT THE BENEDICT CANYON HOME LEASED BY THE ACTRESS, WAS RELEASED YESTERDAY.

AFTER HIS ONLY SUSPECT WALKED OUT OF POLICE HEADQUARTERS, INSPECTOR HAROLD YARNELL SAID, "THERE IS NOT SUFFICIENT EVIDENCE TO HOLD GARRETSON. THERE IS NO REASON TO SUSPECT HIM."

DETECTIVES TODAY LEANED TOWARD THE THEORY THE STABBINGS SUNDAY OF MARKET OWNER LEON LA BIANCA AND HIS WIFE ROSEMARY IN THEIR HOME MIGHT BE A "COPY" BY A NEW ASSAILANT OF THE EARLIER MURDERS.

2 New Murders Linked to Slaying of 5

From News Dispatches

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 11—Homicide detectives fanned out across this sprawling city today checking similarities between the murders of actress Sharon Tate and four others and the bizarre deaths of a married couple a dozen miles away.

At the same time, the only person found alive at the estate where Miss Tate and the others were slain was released from custody.

The five bodies found at the blonde actress' home in Benedict Canyon Saturday were mutilated by multiple knife wounds, as were the bodies of market owner Leno La Bianca, 44, and his wife, Rosemary, 38. Their bodies were discovered Sunday night in their Silverlake home, which was once owned by Walt Disney.

The word "pig" was scrawled in blood on the door of Miss Tate's home, and the words "death to pigs" was daubed on the refrigerator door in the La Bianca home.

William E. Garretson, 19, a caretaker at the home leased by Miss Tate and her man Polanski, was released because of insufficient evidence against him, police said. He underwent a lie detector test and extensive questioning after he was arrested Saturday.

Knives and shot to death with Miss Tate were hair stylist Jay Sebring, 35; coffee helress Abigail Folger, 28; writer Vincent Frykowski, 37; and Steven Parent, 18, who police said was a friend of Garretson and had visited him at the estate the night of the slayings.

Sebring was found with a black hood over his head. He and Miss Tate were joined by a knotted white cord around their necks.

Police said both La Blancas had been knifed repeatedly and had makeshift hoods over their heads.

In addition, a series of X marks had been carved on La Bianca along with the word "war." A fork protruded from his body. The La Blancas were not known to have any connection with the show business set.

Terror Tale HQ

It's Movieland Hotel

By ANTHONY BURTON

Staff Correspondent of THE NEWS

Los Angeles, Aug. 11—Fantasy ruled not so long on the land where the gigantic $500 million complex of buildings called Century City now stands. Here, fake cowboys strutted along false-fronted western streets and phony explorers struggled through bogus African jungles.

Then it was the back lot of 20th Century-Fox studios and thousands of men and women spent their days spinning fairy tales for the world's screens. Now the miniature city of the future is here, dominated by the ultra-modern hotel, the Century Plaza.

Today, Secret Service men and high police officials met in the hotel to consider a situation so extraordinary that derisive eyebrows might have been raised if it had been offered at a story conference in the old days.

A Fete for Astros

It was not enough that in two days a state dinner would be held in the banquet room of the hotel for the three moon astronauts. It was not enough that President Nixon would be arriving from the summer White House down the coast at San Clemente. It was not enough that antiwar protest groups were planning a showdown with police outside the hotel.

On top of all these security problems, local law enforcement officials were struggling with bizarre mass killings, an effort that was using their resources to the utmost.

As the hunt went into its third day, police also had to deal with repeated demands from residents in isolated areas for additional police patrols.

Looks Through Binoculars

Nobody was using the word panic, but it was not far away early this morning as neighbors gathered in the sultry darkness outside 3301 Waverly Dr. in the Los Feliz section of the city. From the roadway, they could just make out smears of blood on the walls of the living room. One youngster had a pair of binoculars to bring the scene into closer focus.

The bodies of Leno and Rosemarie La Bianca were still inside and detectives were starting work on the inevitable question: was there a link between this and the killing of actress Sharon Tate and four others Friday night? Was a mad killer at large, able to strike again and again?

As High Cop Sees It

One woman pulled her robe closer around her, hugging herself as if chilled, although the night was warm. "I don't know what to do," she said. "I can't sleep knowing whoever did this is still free. How can anyone go to sleep? I'll have to stand here all night. I feel better seeing that policeman at the gate."

Later a gray-haired police inspector came out and said he did not think there was any connection between the two cases. If it was meant as a reassurance for the neighbors it was not helpful.

All it meant was that there was a surfeit of madness, enough for two separate horrors. The enemy was within the gates and nobody was safe.

Fear Sadistic Killer on Prowl in L.A.

By MICHAEL MCGOVERN

Staff Correspondent of THE NEWS

Los Angeles, Aug. 11—Fears that a sadistic maniac was on the prowl ballooned today following a report from the coroner's office that a married couple found brutally murdered in their secluded Hollywood home were killed "in a manner closely related" to the savage murders of actress

Sharon Tate and four other persons.

"It's a carbon copy of the earlier murders," said a police investigator of the death of grocery chain heir Leno La Bianca and his wife, Rosemary, who were found dead last night, 36 hours after the discovery of the bodies of Miss Tate and the others.

A coroner's office spokesman disclosed his findings after viewing the bodies of the La Bianca couple. Full autopsies are still to be performed.

Working Around Clock

The latest murders threw the investigation of Sharon's slaying into chaos. Police, almost without clues in the death of Sharon, the wife of Polish film director Roman Polanski, working around the clock when they had to halt that investigation and turn their attention to the new killings.

At least one suspect in the Tate case is still at large.

A second suspect, William E. Garretson, a 19-year-old caretaker at the Benedict Canyon estate, was released today without any charge now pending against him.

The latest victims were La Bianca, 44, an insurance agent, and his wife, Rosemary, 38. Two teenage children from a previous marriage of Mrs. La Bianca, Frank and Susan Struthers, came upon the grotesque scene as they returned home at 10:30 last night.

Stunned police found strong similarity between the murders of the La Biancas and those at the Benedict Canyon Estate.

In the latest murders, the killer dipped a hand in his victims' blood and smeared the words "death to pigs" in foot-high print across a living room wall. Police said the killer used the heel of his hand apparently in an effort not to leave any fingerprints.

The same method was used in the earlier murders. On the door of Sharon's home—smeared in the blood by the heel of a hand—was the word "pig."

La Bianca's body was sprawled on the floor. A big heavyset man, he was wearing trousers but his white shirt had been ripped open and a meat-carving fork was stuck in his chest. The word "war" was carved into his chest, apparently with the fork. Underneath the word, the killer had cut several Xs into his body.

A white pillow case, covered his head and a lamp cord had been tied around his neck.

His wife lay face down in the bedroom next to her bed. She was wearing a negligee which had been pulled over her head. Her back had been so badly mutilated that police could not at first determine whether she had been stabbed or beaten with a whip. Later, it was theorized that she had been stabbed with a bayonet-like weapon.

Through the long night, frightened residents of Los Feliz stood on their lush lawns or came to the scene to watch police go in and out of the isolated single-story white stucco home.

Though onlookers could get no nearer than the foot of the 100-foot driveway leading to the house, they watched detectives who stood silhouetted against a single house light as they dusted the front door for fingerprints.

At one point, a neighbor brought out field glasses and focused through the open front door on the living room wall. He spelled out his findings to the small crowd: "d-e-a-t-h"—the first bloody word of the message.

Inch-by-Inch Search

At sunrise, eight rookie policemen in T-shirts were driven to the scene. They were handed prods and began an inch-by-inch search of the big well-manicured lawn and a guest house behind the main house.

The large house is flanked by even-more-plush estates. On one side is the enormous $3.5 million estate built by a broadcasting executive, Earle C. Anthony.

When Sharon's body was found at her $200,000 red barn-style home, a nylon cord was looped around her neck and around the neck of her former boy friend, hairdresser Jay Sebring, 35, who had a piece of black cloth wrapped like a bandage around his head.

Red Auto Located

A police investigator said about the two sets of killings: "There is a similarity, but whether it is the same person, or just someone copying the Tate murders, we don't know. It's possible that someone read about the other killings and decided on the same kind of thing."

One of the strongest leads in the hunt for Sharon's killer evaporated late last night.

Her fire-engine red Ferrari was found in a Los Angeles garage. It apparently had been taken there for repairs last week. Police thought the car might have been used for a getaway by the killer.

Sharon and her four companions were killed Friday night or Saturday morning, savagely ending a party Sharon was giving for her friends.

Garretson took a 90-minute lie detector test at police headquarters yesterday. Police said it was a "favorable" test and he was returned to his cell as detectives sought to fill in some minor details. Later today, he was unconditionally released.

Garretson's attorney, Barry Tarlow, said that the Tate killer was more likely someone connected with the murder victims themselves.

"There was a party at the house the night of the killings," he said. "From the investigation made by my office, our best guess is that whoever did it was involved in a personal way with these people who were killed."

Results of Autopsies

Coroner Thomas Noguchi released the results of autopsies which determined the causes of death for Sharon and the other four victims at her home:

Sharon, who was eight months pregnant, was killed by multiple stab wounds in the chest and back. The autopsy showed that the baby would have been a boy. Sebring died from stab wounds in the upper part of the body.

Abigail Folger, 26, heiress to the Folger coffee fortune, died of stab wounds in the chest.

Voltyck Frokowsky, 37, a Polish film producer, writer and director, died of stab wounds and a gunshot wound in the back.

Steven Parent, 18, of suburban

El Monte, a friend of Garretson, was killed by multiple gunshot wounds in the chest and face.

Polanski, who returned here last night from London, where he had been working on a film for the last two months, was interviewed for several hours last night by two homicide detectives at an unknown location. Polanski was accompanied by Walter Wolf, a friend and lawyer.

Re Bureau letter to Los Angeles dated 10/16/69.

Enclosed herewith for the Bureau are six copies of a letterhead memorandum (LHM) which was prepared by [REDACTED] b7C

This LHM contains only facts obtained from public sources.

It is to be noted that this crime has received, and continues to receive, maximum publicity in the Los Angeles area. Dear Sir:

We would like to call to your attention an incredible mis-application of justice recently perpetrated by our radical-liberal court system. We refer, of course, to the shocking conviction of Charles Manson and his friends for the murder of Sharon Tate and her friends.

Any fool can see that the courts are making a scapegoat out of the Manson Family, while the higher-ups who dictate the counter culture's policies go around free as the birds. People like this Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin, Bobby Seale and Eldridge Cleaver, Timothy Leary and the whole unsightly lot. The way we see it, Manson got his orders, seen his duty, and did it.

We are starting a petition to ask presidential clemency for this unfairly harsessed former Boy's Towner, and invite you to join us in our quest for equal justice for all.

Yours truly,

b7C
